A "FLYER, INDEED"

THE FASTEST SCHEDULED TRAIN
AMERICA RUNS FROM PHILADELPHIA
TO THE SEA VIA LEAD-ING ROYAL ROUTE.

That there is a streak of "sporting blood" in the veins of the most sate among us is evidenced by the universal interest manifested in railway speeds and the delight with which the average man hails each successive triumph of the locomotive over the combined elements of time and distance.

The much-vanished "Flying Scotchman" express train between London and Edinburgh, in Great Britain, is still regarded by many persons as the fastest regularly scheduled train in the world. This, however, is a mistake, the speed of the "scotchman" having been exceeded by several all-roads in this country, notably by the New York Central, whose "Empire State Express" between New York and Buffalo has, until within a few days, claimed the title of the fastest regular train in the world. This fastest train runs from New York to Buffalo, a distance of 440 miles, in eight hours and forty minutes, which is at the rate of seventy-one seconds to each mile, or fifty and two-thirds miles per hour. During all stops the average running time of this train is fifty-two and twelve one-hundredths miles per hour.

Now, however, comes a new claimant for high speed honors. It has been discovered that the Reading Railroad's 333 p. m. train from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, known as the "Seventy Minute Flyer," is a truly the fastest regularly scheduled passenger train in the world. The distance from Chestnut street wharf to the Camden terminus of the railroad is about a mile and a half, and the ferry boat tip and transfer of the passengers from the boat to the cars occupies ten minutes. This leaves sixty minutes for the trip, and that is precisely the time allowed by the schedule to cover the fifty-five and a half miles which intervene between the Camden depot and the Atlantic City. A little figuring will show that this is a speed of thirty-five seconds to the mile, or the rate of fifty-five and a half miles per hour, beating the former record six seconds per mile and almost five miles per hour.

I should be understood that this refers to the speed of regularly scheduled trains over the entire length of their scheduled runs, and not to mere plenum bursts of speed or stretches of fast running to make up for lost time or delays. The rate of fifty-five and a half miles is exceeded every day on the Reading Railroad, and possibly on some other lines, but on no railroad in the world, so far as known, is there a train run from end to end of its route at so great an average speed as that of the "Seventy Minute Flyer."

When the Flyer was established it was not with the purpose of breaking a record, but the officials were confident of their ability to run a train safely and promptly in the specified time or less if required. It was not claimed, however, to limit the train to six cars to insure quickness. This was found to be impracticable, and for more than a week the train has been carrying eight cars, including one or more heavy Pullmans, and making schedule time on every trip.

President McLeod can now congratulate himself that his road holds the "world's record" for the fastest mile (39.45 seconds, as timed August 27, 1891, by President McLeod, Wm. H. M. Sweeney, of the Philadelphia Record, and others), and also his upon its timetable the fastest regular train in the world.

Race War in Alabama.

A dispatch from Monroeville, Ala., near where the four negroes were lynched last week, and their bodies torn to pieces by the enraged population and then burned, for the murder of Richard Johnson and his daughter, says that the wildest excitement prevails. Hundreds of white people are arming themselves and threaten to exterminate the negro population. It is probable that five more negroes now in jail for alleged complicity in the Johnson murder will be lynched soon on the scene of the trouble.

A Scheme of Socialism.

Two or three years ago the town of Perpignan, France, elected a Socialist Town Council, pledged to create public workshops and make all sorts of innovations for the advantage of the poor. ### Troops Leave Homestead.

The cost to the State of maintaining the national guard at Homestead has been $400,000.

Tobacco Kills Cholera.

The experiments of Dr. Badener and Dr. Wernicke in Hamburg, on the relations of tobacco to cholera, have led to a remarkable discovery. When the bacilli were exposed to a dose of tobacco fumes or tobacco juice, they likewise quickly died.
